SOMERSET MAUGHAM

"PAINTED VEIL" AUTHOR IN HONGKONG.

"UNNECESSARY FUSS."

His Characters As "Purely Imaginary."

The coldest man in Hongkong today is probably Mr. Somerset Maugham, playwright, novelist and traveller, best known in Hongkong as author of "The Painted Veil", a book which was given much free advertisement owing to the holding up of the first edition and the changing of the scenes from Hongkong to an imaginary place.

Having undertaken the trip from Manila to Hongkong at a moment's notice through force of circumstances, Mr. Maugham has only his summer clothes and a topee with him. "You find me rather chilly," he remarked to "China Mail" representative who interviewed him this morning.

Mr. Maugham was to catch a boat at Manila to take him direct to Saigon but he missed it and has come to Hongkong in order to make a connection with the s.s. "Hanoi" which leaves to-morrow. He is collecting material for a volume of short stories about Malaya, Borneo and the Far East.

Asked if Hongkong would figure in these stories, Mr. Maugham shook his head. A novelist was always on the look out for subject matter, however, he added, and something might strike him as worth noting here. With regard to "The Painted Veil," a subject which the "China Mail" representative introduced, Mr. Maugham said that a lot of unnecessary fuss had been made. The plot and characters were purely imaginary.

As to the general manner of his approach of subjects and places for his books and descriptions, Mr. Maugham said that he always made it a practice to become acquainted with places before he wrote about them. His stories were not intended to apply to personalities literally. Experiences he heard of in different places might provide an idea but real life was never complete enough for a satisfactory story to be made of it.

In all stories it might be said that perhaps fifteen per cent. is life and the rest invention," added Mr. Maugham. Any sensible novelist who wanted to put scenes into his story, however, should stop long enough to get acquainted with such details as he wanted to use. "I find a certain interest in studying exotic surroundings and customs and the effect on the characters of the white people who live among them."

A Novelist's Aims.

Asked if he found it easy to write now that he had a considerable number of books and plays to his name, Mr. Maugham said that he never ceased to find it difficult to write. "There is a great gulf between having an idea of what you want to say in your own mind and getting it down on paper. I am never entirely satisfied at what I would like to write and what I find I can. English is a difficult language in which to couch expression. Hardly anyone has realized perfect expression in it."

In conclusion, the newspaper man asked Mr. Maugham if he had any self imposed ideal before him in his writings. "I try to instruct, educate or moralise to no-one," said the novelist. "I try to move, to interest and to amuse. That I think, should be the aim of the man."

Prior to coming to the Far East, a London critic wrote of Mr. Maugham as follows: "The man never stays still. When you think the time is ripe for him triumphantly to tour America—when 'The Moon and Sixpence' has attracted the widest attention—he insists on going immediately to China. This may be because, though well set up, black-eyed, broad-faced, and exceedingly handsome in evening clothes, he is rather diffident."

Writing of Mr. Somerset Maugham's book "On A Chinese Screen" a reviewer stated: Just as a picture may be composed of a number of coloured patches juxtaposed and sometimes superimposed upon one another, each colour being applied upon its own particular block, so Mr. Somerset Maugham has produced an impression of China by means of fifty-eight brief chapters at a great variety of times and situations. Some of the analysis and comment to the total impression is as large as the total sell of the book, and it is not surprising to find the author's name mentioned in China.

COURT GLIMPSES.

A FALLING OFF IN CRIME.

HAWKERS' LUCK.

With the relaxation in the law against unlicensed hawkers and the general falling off in crime, there were few cases in the Police Courts this morning.

Forbidden Newspapers.

An employee of the "Tai Kwong Po" newspaper was charged before Mr. R. E. Lindsell with the possession of 21 different newspapers published in Canton, the circulation of which is forbidden in the Colony. Defendant was arrested as he was leaving the wharf after boarding the s.s. "Lungshan" which arrived from Canton on Tuesday afternoon.

Detective-Sub-Inspector Shannon explained the delay in bringing the defendant before His Worship by stating that he had to submit the newspapers to the Secretary for Chinese Affairs to have translations taken.

Defendant said that he was only carrying out the instructions of his master to receive the newspapers from a man on board. His Worship agreed there was some truth in this story, and remanded defendant on $200 bail until Monday, pending enquiries as to why the "Tai Kwong Po" imported the papers.

A Young Thief.

A Chinese youngster was charged before Major C. Wilson with the theft of $20 from Mr. H. Pritham, of On-Hing Terrace.

Defendant said that he found the money on the ground while doing some odd jobs in complainant's house and he placed the notes inside his shoe.

The Magistrate imposed sentence of three weeks' hard labour and eight strokes of the birch.

Bankruptcy Court Echo.

On a charge of unlawful possession of a quantity of clothing and an electric fan, two Chinese explained that the articles were given to them in lieu of wages by the master of a Chinese firm which had closed down. This was later borne out by the wife of the man.

In all stories it might be said that perhaps fifteen per cent. is life and the rest invention," added Mr. Maugham. Any sensible novelist who wanted to put scenes into his story, however, should stop long enough to get acquainted with such details as he wanted to use. "I find a certain interest in studying exotic surroundings and customs and the effect on the characters of the white people who live among them."

Defendants were discharged.

Youth Gains Leniency.

C. T. French, wireless watchman of the s.s. "Delta," was again before the Kowloon Magistrate this morning to receive sentence in a charge of theft of passengers' belongings which was proved against him on Wednesday.

The Magistrate said he did not wish to imprison defendant on account of his youth, and ordered him to sign a bond for good behaviour in a sum of $250.

LOCAL WEDDING.

TO-DAY'S PEAK CHURCH CEREMONY.

At the Peak Church this afternoon a quiet wedding was solemnised, the contracting parties being Miss Phyllis Parker (daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Parker, of Seaton House, Acton Vale, London, and of Hongkong), and Mr. Leo Vindlersler-Jensen (son of the late Mr. and Mrs. S. Vindlersler-Jensen of Copenhagen, Denmark).

The bride wore a dress of white georgette embroidered with crystal and silver beads. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

The bride's mother was attired in a dress of green and black morocain, with hat to match. Mr. Lewis Parker gave his daughter away and Mr. Gilbert Travers (of the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank) was best man.

A reception was held subsequently at No. 800, the Peak.

Writing of Mr. Somerset Maugham's book "On A Chinese Screen" a reviewer stated: Just as a picture may be composed of a number of coloured patches juxtaposed and sometimes superimposed upon one another, each colour being applied upon its own particular block, so Mr. Somerset

Maugham has produced an impression of China by means of fifty-eight brief chapters at a great variety of times and situations. Some of the analysis and comment to the total impression is as large as the total sell of the book, and it is not surprising to find the author's name mentioned in China.

RESCUE WORK IN HONGKONG HARBOUR.

HEROES AT BUCKINGHAM.

(Reuter's Service.)

London, Feb. 4.

At an investiture at Buckingham Palace His Majesty the King bestowed the Board of Trade silver medal for rescue work during a typhoon in Hongkong harbour to Messrs. George Parker, John Snijt and Harold Wainwright, ex-apprentices on the "Egremont Castle."

TYphoon Recalled.

Work of "Egremont Castle."

The foregoing refers to the disastrous typhoon of August 18, 1923, which resulted in the loss of the Indo-China s.s. "Loong Sang," which founder'd with loss of many lives after being swept away from her mooring. One of the British submarines—the L-8—went down near Queen's Pier, the crew being saved by the Japanese steamer "Ginyo Maru." The liners "Empress of Australia" and "Andrea Doria" were in great danger for a time owing to their anchors dragging.

The officers and crew of the s.s. "Egremont Castle," which was dragging her anchors near Stonecutters' Island, performed fine heroic work, saving the cook-boy of the s.s. "Loong Sang" and other persons from vessels drifting down stream.

His Majesty the King cabled a message of sympathy to the Governor in regard to the sad loss of life and the damage to ships and property.

KING'S SPEECH.

LABOUR AMENDMENT TO ADDRESS.

SOCIALIST DEBATE.

(Reuter's Service.)

London, Feb. 4.

In the House of Commons, the debate on the Labour amendment to the Address in Reply to the Speech from the Throne, which was moved by Mr. R. Snowden resolved itself into a discussion on Socialism versus non-Socialism.

Mr. Snowden contended that during the Government's year of office unemployment had increased wages had declined and profits had risen.

The Labourite, Mr. Johnston, referring to the projected Labour Hours Conference feared that the Washington Convention itself was destroyed by the Conference excluding India, China, and Japan; he emphasised the long hours and inferior conditions in Japan.

Sir John Simon (Liberal), in opposing the amendment asked how the coal industry and markets under public control which was lacking under private ownership? Sir A. Steel-Maitland, replying, denied that the situation had become worse. Notably there had been an increase in wages, whilst as regards unemployment the Government would welcome the co-operation of all Parties, and was even willing to discuss the establishment of a joint Committee of all Parties.

The debate was adjourned.

H.K. ELECTRIC.

THOSE NEGOTIATIONS WITH AMOY.

TERMS REJECTED.

(Reuter's Service.)

At the time of a boom in shares of the Hongkong Electric Co., Ltd., about a year or so ago, a rumour was current that the company would benefit considerably by a concession in the foreign settlement of Kulangsu, Amoy.

Light is now thrown on the matter by the "China Mail's" correspondent who reports the annual meeting of ratepayers.

TENDERS STILL WANTED.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Kulangsu, Amoy, Feb. 2.

For many months the question of ways and means of providing better electric light in the Settlement has been at issue. Reporting upon the matter, the Chairman of the Council said: "The electric light supply has, if anything, deteriorated and residents have to depend to a great extent on other means of lighting."

In the meantime the efforts taken to obtain an improved service have proved abortive, but it is imperative that definite and decisive action be taken without further loss of time. The resolution unanimously adopted by the ratepayers at a special meeting held on September 19, 1924, authorising the Council to take steps to terminate the existing agreement with the Hongkong Electric Co., Ltd., resulted in a draft agreement being drawn up. This agreement was submitted to the ratepayers at a special meeting held on July 31, 1925, but was rejected. A committee of the Council is making investigation as to the most suitable method of solving the electric light question.

After considerable discussion at the annual meeting on January 29, the following resolution was passed:

"Resolved: That the incoming Council call for tenders for the erection of an electric light and power plant on Kulangsu, and ask for particulars in as to alternating current or direct current, or other similar terms, as they may decide, and submit said tenders to the ratepayers as soon as possible."

EXTRALITY.

TREATIES NOT FORCED ON CHINA.

MATTER OF CONVENIENCE.

In much of the propaganda which Chinese organisations have put out urging the abolition of extraterritoriality, emphasis has been placed upon the element of force involved in the protection of foreign rights, and to this extent maintain that foreign gunboats are associated with and stand back of the extraterritoriality system. Point is also made of the allegation that the extraterritorial treaties were "forced" upon China. To those Chinese who insist that extraterritoriality was forced upon China we (China Press) would like to put the question:

Why did China make a treaty containing the extraterritoriality clause with Switzerland as late as 1918? Switzerland is a small country which has no navy and from the standpoint of size and population is smaller than many Chinese provinces. Surely the element of force could not have entered into the negotiation of this treaty. Therefore, if the element of coercion did not enter into the question, there must have been some other reason why China voluntarily surrendered this important right.

The same element probably applied when China made her first treaty with a foreign country, the treaty with Russia in 1689 for this agreement provided that that the subjects of either nation guilty of breaches of the frontier should be handed over to their respective officials for punishment. The second treaty, that of 1788, between China and Russia also contained an extraterritorial clause. There was also the complete absence of force or coercion in the treaty between China and the United States of 1844 which contained the extraterritorial clause.

There are now seventeen foreign countries which enjoy extraterritorial rights in China—Belgium, Brazil, Denmark, France, Great Britain, Italy, Japan, Mexico, Netherlands, Norway, Peru, Portugal, Russia, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland and the United States—and assuredly no thoughtful Chinese would say that all of these countries, many of which are smaller in size and population than some Chinese provinces, forced extraterritorial rights on China.

The Real Answer.

The answer to the question probably is to be found in the fact that China found it more convenient and less troublesome for the foreigners to be responsible for their own citizens and subjects than for China to accept the responsibility herself. We are not arguing that the present system should be continued indefinitely merely because China at one time found the system convenient. Abuses have crept into the practice of extraterritoriality which must be remedied and China has now decided to develop her courts and laws in accordance with modern practice in other parts of the world. It is obvious that extraterritorial rights ultimately will be abandoned in China as they were abandoned in Japan, in Turkey and in Siam, but when Chinese of the younger generation state that China was "forced" to make treaties containing these provisions, their statements do not square with the facts.

It should also be noted in this connection that the abrogation of the extraterritorial treaties will not prevent foreign nations from using force to protect their nationals residing in China if foreign nations should find it necessary to use force to protect their rights—witness the recent of Soviet Russia in giving China a three-day ultimatum to release the Russian manager of the Chinese Eastern Railway who was arrested by Chang Tao-ling's soldiers a few days ago. Russia has renounced her extraterritorial rights in China but despite this, the rulers of Moscow did not hesitate to take action to force China to observe the provisions of the so-called "equal" treaty which was negotiated by China and the Soviet two years ago.

A story from the Moulmein correspondent of the "Rangoon Times" says that at Yenyan, twenty-six miles from Martaban, a Buddhist monk is healing all diseases by touch of hand. It is said that the monk, who is Chinese, asks nothing for his services, and has become so inundated with requests for the alleviation of suffering that he is being assisted by five pupils to whom he is able to delegate his extraordinary power, though this transferred capacity lasts only one day. Crowds of Chinese are waiting Yenyan, bringing cases of the most desperate ill or crippled, who in man dressed as an ordinary monk and layman.

THE MODERN GIRL.*SOME CURIOUS CHINESE CONTRASTS.*CHINA A DEMOCRACY.

The life of Chinese girls and women to-day presents the most amazing contrasts. In the same city where one may see thousands of young girls hobbling along on bound feet, other girls—the favoured few who are in school—are playing netball and learning country dancing, writes "C. M." in the "Manchester Guardian." After a large sports meeting held recently in a provincial capital some of the boys made the criticism that the girls had not been allowed an equal share in the proceedings, because they had not played football. When it was suggested to them that football is not universally considered a suitable game for girls, they said with an air of finality: "But China is now a democracy."

In the same city where hospitals can be found with modern equipment and where Chinese doctors trained in Western medical schools offer their services, thousands of poor folks still use the age-old magic cures when their children fall sick, and ignore the most elementary laws of hygiene every day of their lives. Many a little boy still wears the earring which is supposed to deceive the spirits into believing that he is the much less valuable member of the family, the girl, or the silver ring round the neck which "locks him into life." On the other hand, some modern educated fathers are quite noticeably fond of their daughters than of their sons, and quite as anxious for them to have a career if they want it.

It has been estimated (all statistics relative to China are approximate) that still only one woman in eighty can read. The proportion in the cities is probably higher, but in the country illiteracy is almost the rule. At the other end of the scale are the women who have taken degrees in English and American universities. There are doctors, scientists, philosophers, educators, and journalists among them. The number of girls in school is constantly on the increase, though they still form a fraction, probably about one in ten, of China's scholars.

Education and Marriage.

The demand for educated girls as wives is enormous. Educated young men naturally want educated wives. On the other hand, there is great revolt against marriage on the part of the girls. From of old, marriage in China has meant for the women subjected to the husband's family, and in particular to his mother. Cases are common now of girls breaking engagements made for them in childhood by their parents. Recently a girl of eighteen defended her right to break an engagement in the Law Court in Peking and was successful. Other girls have been known to use the money left them by their parents or money they had saved themselves to contract out of undesirable engagements. This is a tremendous change from the time when betrothal arranged by the parents was regarded as being just as binding as marriage itself. There are instances of love matches, and of happy homes founded on them, but these are all too few as yet, and far too many young Chinese know nothing of any ideal of marriage or home life.

Recently a whole issue of one of the most popular magazines for women was devoted to the subject of divorce, and in general the question of marriage received a great deal of attention and is discussed from every point of view. The same magazine frequently publishes photographs of newly-married couples after the best fashion of Western society papers. Young schoolgirls read novelties of the most sentimental type, or worse. They get their ideas of Western sex relations from the least desirable kind of cinema film. As they know nothing of the normal equal kind of social intercourse that takes place between men and women in Western countries, they have nothing to counterbalance the impression made by the books and pictures. It is disturbing to think what their ideas of Western customs must be. The girls of China deserve to be offered a share in the best that Western women have achieved, and not only the less desirable elements. At this difficult period of adjustment to new conditions they need all the understanding and practical sympathy that Western women can give them.

SOVIET CHECK.*A BOOT ON THE WRONG FOOT.*KARAKHAN EXPOSED.

The lengthy protest addressed to the Minister of Foreign Affairs by Mr. Karakhan, Soviet Ambassador, would be highly entertaining if it were not particularly impertinent in view of what is happening under the noses of the Soviet agitators in our country. Mr. Karakhan and his fellow nationalis do not like "the violent actions of Chinese soldiers," and describe them as being of "abominable character," when applied to the Chinese Eastern Railway, but when the self-same measures are addressed to the authorities on all other railways in China Mr. Karakhan and his fellow nationalis applaud them as being a just manifestation of national hatred of alleged Imperialists.

It is noteworthy that in his protest against the actions of northern soldiery on the Chinese Eastern Railway he did not mention in any way the action of southern soldiery, under the direction of his countryman and agent Borodin and others, on the Canton-Kowloon Railway; nor did he seem to think it worthy of mention that it was about time the Chinese Eastern Railway was given a taste of the medicine which is ruining the Peking-Muken, the Peking-Hankow, the Tientsin-Pukow, and other great lines in China Proper. This process of ruination has been encouraged by Mr. Karakhan and his fellow nationalis, and the acts of those other nationalis who have endeavoured to protect their financial interests in these lines by addressing protests to the Government have been stigmatised by Mr. Karakhan and his fellow nationalis as imperialistic endeavours to control China.

What is sauce for the goose is not apparently sauce for the gander in Mr. Karakhan's eyes, and now that the line in which the ultralistic Soviet Government is concerned is given a taste of that sauce he vomits badly. And in that vomiting suggests action which his paid agents in China would scream down as violent imperialistic manoeuvring to effect armed intervention in China. For does he not brazenly say to the Minister of Foreign Affairs: "My Government will hold the Chinese Government responsible for all damage inflicted through the actions of the Chinese authorities, as well as resulting from the outrages committed by the Chinese Military," and precedes that "imperialistic" declaration with the more "imperialistic" suggestion that he is "ready to discuss jointly with the measure which in such circumstances would be indispensable for both Governments to take." Now what does Mr. Karakhan, the anti-imperialist, mean by all this?

We think it is about time the eyes of our countrymen were opened to the effrontery of the Soviet agents in China, and we invite the student leaders who somehow seem to have great faith in the persuasive eloquence of Mr. Karakhan and his satellites to examine his protest to our Ministry of Foreign Affairs in the light of Mr. Karakhan's teachings against so-called imperialists. And while they are at it they might examine the reasons for the loss of Mongolia to China, and the activities of Soviet agents in Sinkiang and elsewhere, to say nothing of the ruinous conditions which have been imposed upon South China by Soviet agents in Canton and other Southern Centres—"Peking Daily News."

Interesting Facts About Zam-Buk*A Natural Balm v. Artificial Salves.

In ancient times the Roman Gladiators had a speedy and sure method of healing their wounds and sores. This was by the application of costly balms prepared with emollient and valuable medicinal herbs.

When the secret of these preparations perished with the fall of Rome civilisation fell back upon primitive empiricism. The art of healing was lost.

A return to Nature's own way of healing was made in the days of Hippocrates, Galen, and Avicenna, and the discovery of the healing properties of Zam-Buk.

Scientific ingenuity has now drawn Zam-Buk with a high degree of purity in oil, and it is used for a cure of all diseases, and especially for the treatment of skin diseases.

WIRELESS STRIKE.

DEFINITE STEP TOWARD A SETTLEMENT.

REFERRED TO ARBITRATION.

(Reuter's Service.)

London, Feb. 4.

A step toward the settlement of the marine wireless strike has been taken as the outcome of a meeting in the House of Commons between representatives of the men's Union and a number of Conservative, Labour, and Liberal M.P.'s at which the Union agreed to submit the whole dispute to arbitration.

No Shipping Missing.

London, later.

In the House of Commons the Labourites put a number of questions arising from the ships' wireless operators' strike to Sir Cunliffe Lister, who, in replying, said that no ship subject to the provisions of the Wireless Telegraphy Act had been reported missing since November 26.

He mentioned that 1,187 ships, of which 85 were passenger ships, had sailed without operators since the beginning of the dispute to January 31. He added that it was not proposed to alter the present procedure.

The points upon which the Union declares it is awaiting a settlement are: (1) Signature of Shipping Federation to the agreement on behalf of their members wherever, and however, their operators are employed; (2) an increase in the present foreign service allowance, and the sum to be placed on a flat rate basis; (3) withdrawal of Shipping Federation circular regarding "other duties" on Class I vessels; (4) maintenance allowance on weekly vessels; (5) annual leave; (6) stability in the wireless service. These, it was emphasised a month ago, must be settled to the Union's satisfaction before any adjustment of wages can be discussed.

The Guild is assured in reply that constant communication has been maintained with the Colonial Office and with the British Diplomatic and Consular authorities in China with a view to taking advantage of any opportunity which may arise for the alleviation of the situation. As it would appear that the Canton Government desire to reach a settlement, unofficial negotiations are proceeding with the object of preparing the way for the resumption of normal relations between Hongkong and Canton. Of life in Mukden, the writer of "A Londoner's Diary" in the "Evening Standard" says: "Young Englishmen and American who liked it liked it very much. They used to say emphatically 'This is the life.' The scarcity of European and American women implied freedom from the minuteness of social stratification common to most Far Eastern communities of Europeans, and a British Consul would ask a stranger to have a drink in an entirely human manner."

The Interport team sails for Shanghai on Tuesday next by the s.s. "President Jackson," leaving Kowloon wharf at 6 p.m. There has been one change from the original fourteen chosen. Hayes of Kowloon comes in as a reserve in place of Sims, who is unable to make the journey owing to pressure of work. The team therefore that will make the journey is as follows: — Rodger; Wynne, Wheeler; Mitchell, Stewart, Bristow; Charlesworth, Humberstone, Gosano, Butler, Macklesworth. Reserves: — Howard, Brittain, Hayes. Messrs. W. E. Hollands and J. McCubbin are going in charge of the team.

There are three games down for decision in the second round of the Junior Shield competition, and I expect to see University, Club de Recreio and the Surreys Reserves qualify for the semi-final.

There is only one game in the Junior "A" section of the League, and South China "A" will have to play all they know to maintain their unbeaten record. The Gunners' second string is quite strong enough to keep their opponents out, and should this wet weather continue they will have a distinct advantage over their lighter opponents.

In the junior "B" section, it looks like a win for the Boarders and the College Reserves.

The Chinese team to take part in the national competition at Shanghai will be playing its last practice match with the Gunners.

INTERPORT SOCCER.*SHANGHAI'S SIDE HARD TO CHOOSE.*SELECTORS' TASK.

Commenting on Shanghai's task of getting up a side to play Hongkong at football, the "N. C. Daily News" says:—

It is a not unnatural assumption that the team to represent Shanghai in the Interport soccer match against Hongkong on February 13 is to be chosen almost entirely from the players who took part in Saturday's (January 30) trial game. Any selection committee for any sporting event has a thankless and unpleasant task; but those on whose judgment rests the final choice of Shanghai's representative eleven to play against Hongkong have our deepest sympathy, for the progress and result of Saturday's match must have given them seriously to ponder, and to ponder again. As a matter of fact, it is a moot question whether Saturday's match will prove of much assistance, for it was a game in which some of our consistently best players were not at their best, and in which some others known to be good but generally considered to be not of the very best, undoubtedly outshone some of the men of reputation and achievement. And the furrows on the brows of the selectors must be getting deeper and deeper.

As has been the custom with Interport trial teams since the revival of Interport football, there was a radical change-over in the teams originally selected. The teams originally chosen to play on Saturday were as follows:—

Probables: — Tetstall; Gowen and Falconer; Phillips, Cash and Price; Dailey, Collaco, Austen, Asten, Begg and Guttieres.

Possibles: — Moalem; Ewing and Clissold; Hurry, Crawford and Phillips; Deer, Collaco, Austen, Begg and Guttieres.

The teams that actually played were:—

Blues (Mr. Gash's Team): — Moalem; Brown (J. B.) and Falconer; Phillips, Gash and Price; Deer, Collaco, Austen, Begg and Guttieres.

Yellows (Mr. Crawford's Team): — Tetstall; Ewing and Clissold; Whitaker, Crawford and Hurry, Dailey, Evans, Goldman, Marcal and J. Johansson.

Leavers: — A. H. Penn, Infantry No. 431 C.Q.M.S. R. J. Tyler and N. 432 Sergt. M. D. Coupland, Engineer Co., are permitted to revert to the ranks at their own request, as from January 25, 1926.

2nd-Lieut. A. H. Penn, Infantry Co. is granted 12 months' leave from February 15, 1926, to February 14, 1927.

No. 90 R.Q.M.S. W. E. Hollands, Battalion Headquarters, is granted 16 days' leave from February 9, 1926, to February 24, 1926.

Resignations.

The following are permitted to resign from the Corps:—

No. 169 Pte. R. M. Henderson, No. 7 Platoon, as from January 31, 1926.

No. 352 Pte. R. E. Lindsell, Reserve Co., as from January 31, 1926.

No. 350 Pte. S. H. Hewer, Reserve Co., as from January 31, 1926.

No. 381 Spr. D. E. Evans, Engineer Co., as from February 1, 1926.

Struck Off.

No. 456 Pte. D. A. G. Alison (deceased), Reserve Co., is struck off the strength, as from January 31, 1926.

Marksmen.

The following have qualified as marksmen and are entitled to wear the badge for one year:—

No. 302 Pte. G. Duncan, No. 6 Platoons, 96 points.

No. 465 Pte. D. Reid, Reserve Scot. Sec., 98 points.

No. 10 Sergt. H. S. Ross, Artillery Co., 91 points.

No. 1 Capt. J. A. Lyon, Reserve Co., 91 points.

Musket Course.

The following programme for Musket Course and Camp for 1926-1927 is published for information:—

Mr. Jessop said that that was the pony he had advocated.

Maurice Tate agrees with Mr. Warner, but Lord Hawke thinks a change would not be advantageous.

Some experts claim that the high scores are due to the super-excellence of the wicketts. On the other hand, other experts, including Mr. Hugh Trumble, do not agree with this view and say that the high scoring is due to the lack of good bowlers.

London, Jan. 15.

Mr. P. F. Warner's suggestion, at the Middlesex C.C. meeting yesterday, that there be an extension of Test matches to four days in future tours, was supported by Mr. J. W. H. T. Douglas, who emphatically declares in favour of a fight to a finish.

Sydney, Jan. 16.

Mr. Sydney Smith, manager of the Australian cricket team, agrees with Mr. P. F. Warner's suggestion made at a recent meeting of the Middlesex County Club that four days should be allotted for the Tests, and says that it is no fault of the Australian Board of Control that the matches are not played out in England.

Melbourne, Jan. 16.

The heavy scoring in the Sheffield Shield matches has revived the agitation for a time-limit in first-class matches.

At a cost of 100 guineas Marybone C.C. is purchasing an oil portrait of Dr. W. G. Grace for presentation to the National Gallery, which has signified its willingness to accept the portrait.

People and Events in the News of the World

Near the Grand Palais in Paris a monument has been unveiled to Capt. Roland Garros, daring flier in the early days of aviation. He was killed by German airmen two weeks before the Armistice.

Representative John P. Hill, of Maryland, enjoys the distinction of having introduced more bills into the Lower U.S. House than any of his colleagues.

Sir Broderick Hartwell, the rum running baronet of England, who set out two years ago to reap a fortune defying the U.S. anti-liquor laws, has been driven into bankruptcy by the American dry navy... Dr. H. T. Moore, of Dartmouth, has been inaugurated president of Skidmore College, Saratoga Springs, N.Y., a leading institution for women. Former Governor R. P. Bass, of New Hampshire, will seek the seat of Senator George H. Moses next fall. Prince Vladimir Galitzine of Russia, former confidante of the Grand Duke Boris, is in New York on a mission shrouded in secrecy.

Battling Siki, most eccentric of prizefighters, was slain on Broadway, New York, a bullet cutting him down. The Senegalese, a real fighting man, who served in the French army, and later knocked Carpenter out, was the clown of the ring. His antics brought him to the bar of justice many times. He was under orders of deportation when slain.

Eleonora Sears, a versatile athlete of smart set, walked from Providence, R.I., to Boston, 44 miles, in 11 hours and 6 minutes to win a bet she could make it in less than 15 hours. Her pacemaker found it hard to keep up with her. "I feel as fine as a fiddle," said Miss Sears when she reached her Boston home.

It is not only waste of money, but it is causing Baby to run a dangerous risk, to give him food that has to have anything other than boiled water added to make it suitable for his little digestive powers.

Far better to give your Baby Claxo, which, when mixed with hot boiled water only, is a complete food. Every drop Baby swallows is all nourishment.

ODDS AND ENDS*A Shingled Prima Donna.

Freida Hempel, the prima donna, is convinced that the bobbing and shingling of women's hair has come to stay (says a "Daily Chronicle" writer). "It is useful, practical, quick, and comfortable," she told me. "But she does not favour a 'close crop.' " Is her advice to women? "Ears are often ugly if entirely exposed to view."

Individual Clothes.

Lord Beatty is ever picturesque and his adherence to an evening coat of a type that was popular many years ago may revive the fashion. This is a combination of coat and cape, technically called, I believe, an "Inverness" (remarks a writer in the "Daily Express"). Young men who think seriously about clothes should reflect, however, before they follow the First Sea Lord's example. You must be able to carry off these things, Queen Story of a Picture.

Brussels is preparing to celebrate the centenary of the death in that city of the celebrated French painter Louis David, whose pictures cover many yards of the Louvre picture galleries in Paris (says an "Evening Standard" writer). Driven out of his own country when Napoleon fell, the artist responsible for so many pictures recording the splendours of the Empire, went in for portrait painting in Belgium, where he took refuge. Recently a "David" portrait was offered for sale to a Belgian State museum. The Commission of artists appointed to examine the work noticed that there was something queer about the canvas. The picture was called the "Family Portrait," but depicted a single old lady sitting in an armchair too big for her and belonging to a period at least thirty years later than David's death. The commission appointed to consider the matter did not recommend purchase, but asked the family for an explanation of its strange condition.

Company Directors' Fees.

Having a long experience of the direction of City companies (writes "A.A.B." in the "Sunday Express"), I cannot understand why shareholders are content to pay such fantastic salaries to chairmen imported from the West End of London. Of previous knowledge of the business they are called on to preside over, these lawyers and politicians can have none; indeed you might as well appoint the president of the Royal Academy to be chairman of a finance company as any of these legal or political speech-makers, who can only be wanted in one of two capacities, either as an attraction to ignorant shareholders, or as one who can hold a big meeting. Five thousand a year as chairman's fees, I agree, may not be too much for a man of ability, but when it comes to $10,000 a year and more the draft on the shareholders' pockets requires apology. Since the war three prominent men have migrated from Whitehall to the City, namely, Mr. Reginald McKenna, Sir Robert Horne, and Lord Buckmaster.

A New Ray.

A discovery of the very greatest scientific interest has been announced to the National Academy of Sciences of America by Dr. R. A. Millikan, director of the Physics Laboratory of the California Institute of Technology, and winner of the Nobel prize for physics.

Dr. Millikan has traced the source of a mysterious radiation which for 20 years has puzzled physiologists to the presence in the atmosphere of "ultra" X-rays, one hundred times more penetrating than those already known. In order to do so he conducted researches on the top of Pike's Peak, and made experiments in the depths of two mountain lakes, says "The Outlook."

A Long Lived Family.

The death of the Hon. Mrs. Wentworth-Fitzwilliam at a hundred years of age recalls the remarkable record of longevity held by the Dundas family. The present Marquess of Zetland, although over eighty years of age, still does his four hours a day in the saddle and when in residence at Marske in Cleveland tramps about the shore and climbs sandbanks with all the ardour of a young man. The Marchioness of Zetland, as befit a former Vicereine of India, still sits in quaint old English state through her meals, alert and vivacious in mind, and she said: "I hope he will make a fine man. He must come and see me on his birthday."

The Posy Evening Bag.

The evening bag should be always attractive, and as it is not subjected to very hard wear, one can afford to allow the fancy to run riot (observes a "Manchester Guardian" writer). The latest novelty in bags which is being shown in Paris consists of an artificial bunch of flowers which are pressed closely together like an old-fashioned Victorian posy. Some are of mixed flowers, a moss rose in the centre, followed by a ring of pale blue forget-me-nots, then one of bachelor buttons (the pinky kind), and finished with a surround of cornflowers. Others consist entirely of roses, forget-me-nots, wallflowers, and many other flowers, so that there are plenty from which to choose to match the frock. The foundations of these bags are of satin, the posy heads are at the bottom, and the stalks meander up the sides and are bunched together when the draw-ribbon is pulled.

CIGARETTES*Which Material?

Not one woman in fifty can tell you the sort of material she looks best in, (says a "Star" writer). We spend a lot of thought on clothes, yet few of us take the trouble to think out whether we look best in bright firm materials, or soft dull ones. Whether we are "tailored" or "artistic" is not a bad definition of the two opposing styles. Do you know which you are?

Baby's Choice.

Even baby may walk out of the shop carrying her Christmas present if it is a practical one (says a "Star" writer). Children are allowed to have views on dress in these enlightened days, and a little girl of three was allowed to choose between a sweet pink flowered taffeta and a yellow crepe de chine. She chose the pink frock, and straightway demanded pink socks and got them.

Queen Alexandra's Wish.

Someone I know who is over 80 years of age told me how much Queen Alexandra loved flowers (says a writer in the "Evening News"). One of the crowning joys of her life was to become identified officially with the rose. One of the last couples whom the late Queen honoured with her sympathy and affection were Prince and Princess Chavchavadze when they stayed recently at Cromer. At the request of the Queen they drove over to Sandringham and took with them their four-month-old child. The Queen was delighted with the newcomer, and paid special attention to his dark lustrous eyes. They looked at her with inquisitive expression, and she said: "I hope he will make a fine man. He must come and see me on his birthday."
